Offshore Wind Power for New York:
Reaching America’s Next Clean Energy Frontier
Stony Brook University • November 13, 2013 • 9:30 am – 2:30 pm

Just off the coast of New York lies the best wind energy resource in the world, yet America currently does not have a single offshore wind turbine spinning off our shores. Fortunately, that is going to change.

New York can and should be a national leader in reaching this next clean energy frontier, which will create significant home grown economic development opportunities, reduce harmful pollution, diversify our energy portfolio, and stabilize energy prices.

This conference will feature presentations by key stakeholders and an exciting roundtable discussion with New York’s leaders on the current status of the state’s efforts to build a smart offshore wind program. Speakers will describe how New York can benefit from offshore wind development and the critical next steps to finally make it a reality.

Conference is free & space is limited. Click to register: http://www.citizenscampaign.org/forms/offshore-wind/

DATE: Wednesday, November 13, 2013
TIME: Registration 9:30 am; Conference 10 am - 2:30pm *Lunch will be provided
LOCATION: The Charles B. Wang Center, Stony Brook University #302, Stony Brook, NY 11794

LUNCHEON KEYNOTE: Gil Quiniones, President & CEO, New York Power Authority

WELCOME: Yacov Shamash, Co-Chairman, Stony Brook Advanced Energy Research and Technology Center

KICKOFF SPEAKER: Roger Clayman, Executive Director, Long Island Federation of Labor AFL-CIO

PRESENTATIONS

Why Offshore Wind Power?
Adrienne Esposito, Citizens Campaign for the Environment; Gordian Raacke, Renewable Energy Long Island; Catherine Bowes, National Wildlife Federation; Neal Lewis, Sustainability Institute at Molloy College; Doug Sims, Natural Resources Defense Council

Offshore Wind Development: An Economic Powerhouse for New York
Kevin Law, Long Island Association; David Hang, DE Shaw & Co.; Paul Shatsoff, Workforce Development Institute; Bruce Bailey, AWS Truepower

ROUNDTABLE DISCUSSION moderated by Bob Keeler: Bringing Offshore Wind Power to New York
Greg Lennon, Director of Business & Project Development, NYPA; David Daly, Vice President, LIPA Transition, PSEG; John Williams, Director, Energy Analysis, NYSERDA; Michael Snyder, Policy Analyst, New York Department of State; Jim Lanard, President, Offshore Wind Development Coalition; Jackson Morris, Director of Strategic Engagement, Pace University Energy & Climate Center